ECHO

1969

Enfield High School
Thompsonville, Connecticut

PREFACE

Our lives have been kaleidoscopic. We are the axes to which knowledge, ideas, and experiences have blended and folded to form patterns outlined by our heritage. Now we stand, a mass of coloration, anxious for the future.

Our rotations have come to a brief standstill. We have been taught and guided by many concerned people. Now we must decide our directions for ourselves. We must cultivate our dreams and ambitions into realities. As we strive to achieve we must remember the virtues and truths taught us and incorporate them into our lives. We must be careful that we use our preparation to its fullest and most effective means; for it is the media we use that measures our success.

We are responsible for the future. What has occurred in the past must not be forgotten nor blamed. Rather, we must build from the past towards a better future. Let us hope that our judgments and decisions will be tempered by Truth and Charity. Let us never work with prejudiced minds that we would inhibit a continual fusing of new ideas and efforts for a better world. With these goals we step forward.

Joey Allen

DEDICATION

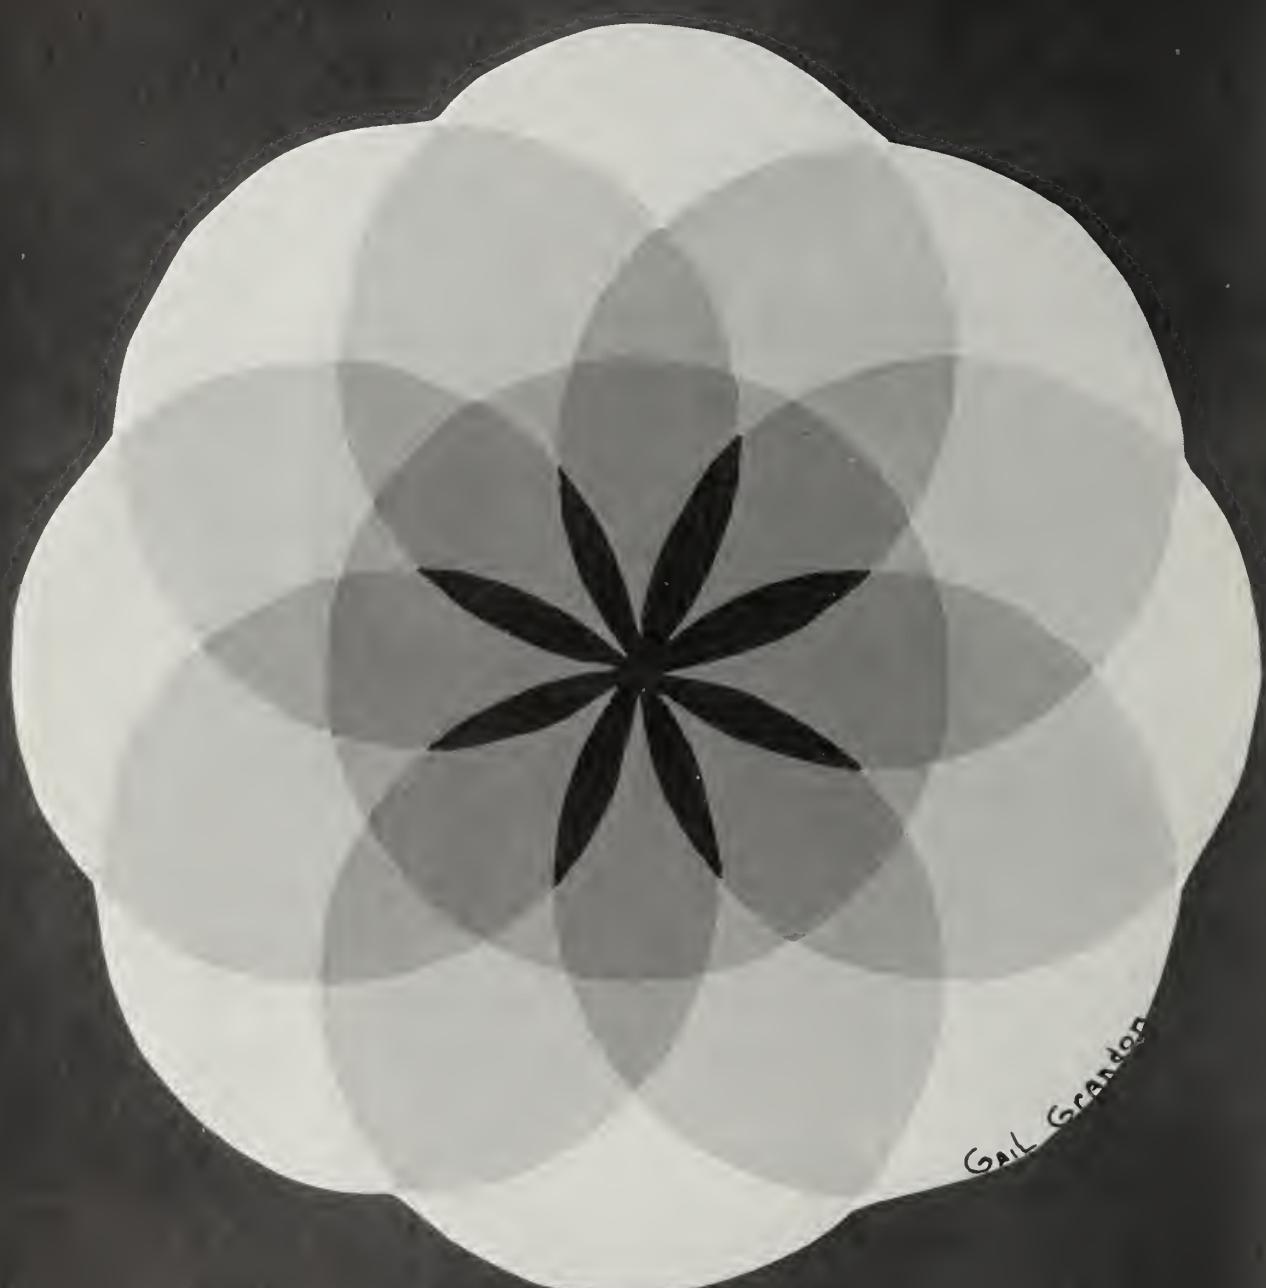

As we find it difficult to leave the passageways and people we've known, we find one whose faithfulness and steadfast character has benefited countless students of many past years, and especially the students of our class. In a seemingly chaotic and apathetic world, the concerned atmosphere provided by a truly involved educator is most appealing. Throughout her forty years of teaching, Miss Tatoian has devoted her life to education.

Miss Tatoian has one of the keenest senses of humor among the faculty. She has taken a personal interest in her students not only throughout the high school years, but often after graduation. Being a gourmet cook, she has generously made donations to the bake sales students have held. For many years she has served as advisor for the costume department in the Lamplighters Drama Guild.

In Appreciation of her priceless contribution to our total education, we the class of 1969, do proudly dedicate the ECHO to MISS CATHERINE TATOIAN.

with sparkling clarity.

English

English is the fundamental study in which we learn to think and communicate accurately and interestingly. Our basic knowledge of English will enable us to further our learning after our formal education is completed.

This year, we gained a comprehensive identity with the English language through diverse teaching techniques. Especially as seniors, the opportunity to be heard and to voice our feelings was evident. Through our many and varied opinions has come a clearer, a better focus of the future.

Social Studies

The Enfield High School Social Studies Department has made great strides in the creation and development of a dynamic and personal social studies program for the students. It is a program which does not end in the classroom. Rather, it is expanded into the realm of individual research and inquiry. The inducement for this extra-curricular activity that results from the stimulating classes, is heightened further by the excellent facilities of the Social Studies Lab. It includes nearly all forms of media: audio, visual, and research aids.

Yet, the purpose of the Social Studies Department goes beyond even the classroom and lab. Problems of Democracy and Modern World Problems begin to give America's future leaders a sound foundation for active citizenship and an awareness of the world which they soon will encounter.

The Enfield High Social Studies Department has succeeded in achieving a unity, where these diverse and seemingly incongruous fragments, like mosaic pieces, all fall into a general pattern, the pattern we call humanity.

Happiness is Mr. Taylor's Economics class.

Mathematics

The Mathematics Department at Enfield High offers a diversified curriculum, which is geared to the demands of academic and business students alike. While the academic student is stimulated by such challenging courses as Algebra, Geometry, and Analysis, the business student is aroused by practical mathematics. Business mathematics gives the student a strong background in the fundamentals of book-keeping and clerical practices.

The accelerated math student is given the opportunity to explore the fundamentals of Calculus, and thereby obtain a deeper understanding of higher mathematics.

The Enfield High School Math Department feels that mathematics, with its basis of logical reasoning, can never be over-emphasized.

Students burn their way to knowledge.

Science

A decade ago, the first Sputnik was launched into space. In this same ten years, science courses have changed dramatically. These changes were stimulated in part by a re-evaluation of the role of science in our national life and show up in the courses offered by the Science Department. These classes are more laboratory centered; experiments are studied in much more depth than many were ten years ago.

To keep abreast of new ideas, the Science Department feels that a basic knowledge of science is invaluable. The curriculum is designed so that scientific history, modern technology, and a basic understanding of modern concepts are all studied.

This year, an intensified study of Physical Science has been added to the curriculum. It is offered for the student who does not intend to attend college. Bio-Chemistry, an advanced science for accelerated students, is offered again this year. It adds a new dimension of learning for the student who finds science a challenge.

Science gives the student an opportunity to satisfy his curiosity. Inquiry and research of this sort augment our intellectual scope in a manner that is practical, theoretical, and technological.

Business

In order to function successfully in the sphere of today's highly industrial society, it is important to become adept at certain skills. To provide its students with the knowledge and experience necessary for success in the business world, the business department offers practical curriculum in actual jobs. This "work-study" program provides a strong foundation of practical knowledge for the business student.

For those students not involved in this plan, courses in the operation of business machines, typing, and stenography prepare them for office work after graduation. The department also offers courses for those individuals who plan to pursue further business study at the college level.

For seniors—a sure way to be accurate.

We experienced the skills the business world demands,

Foreign Languages

At a time when communication and understanding between the people of the world is so vital, we at Enfield High School are fortunate enough to have an advanced foreign language program. The Foreign Language Department consists of three basic courses: French, Spanish, and Latin. Besides the regular classroom sessions, the students frequently utilize the electronic language laboratory.

The learning of a foreign language is most beneficial. Not only may one become proficient in a language but one also becomes acquainted with the customs and inhabitants of other nations. This learning arouses and intrigues us: we become more aware of our own society, and its traditions and culture.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT:

Mr. Joseph Giangrasso and Mr. Leonard DeMaio.

Under the direction of Mr. Leonard DeMaio, the advanced Music IV class experimented with Electronic Music techniques and composed individual pieces. Electronic music is the art of combining sounds and tapes to create an abstract composition that the listener may interpret in his own way. A television program concerning electronic music was taped and several of the better compositions were sent to Washington, D.C.

For those who sang, several music classes were available under the direction of Mr. Joseph Giangrasso. The students sang broadway, folk, and jazz selections. The main objective of the music course is to prove to the students that music can be pleasant and stimulating.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Foley and Mr. Richard Finman many of the classes explored new and unusual art forms this year. The advanced class was introduced to metallic sculpture for the first time. The art students produced water colors, pastels, woodcuts, pottery and three dimensional sculptures. Art class offers a chance for creativity, and its informal atmosphere provides a refreshing break in the school routine.

Home Economics

In preparation for the future, the Home Economics Department at Enfield High offers a diversified and practical curriculum. Girls are taught the fundamentals that are necessary in the managing of a home: cooking, sewing and child care.

This year, Home and Family was again offered to senior boys and girls. The course prepares one for marriage and raising a family. The child care program was lengthened this year to enable the students to intensify their study.

as well as the practical skills of life,

Driver Education

In the forming of good driving habits, the experience gained this year in Driver Education has proved valuable. In the course, a sportsmanlike attitude is stressed, so that students can be best prepared to handle driving situations as they arise. The simulated cars with driver-training movies are most realistic and take the place of much actual experience. This course is most advantageous for people learning to drive and for students who already have their license. Qualified instructors, substantial materials, and an informative text provide conscientious students with an adequate background for safety in driving.

"And this is the watchamacallit."

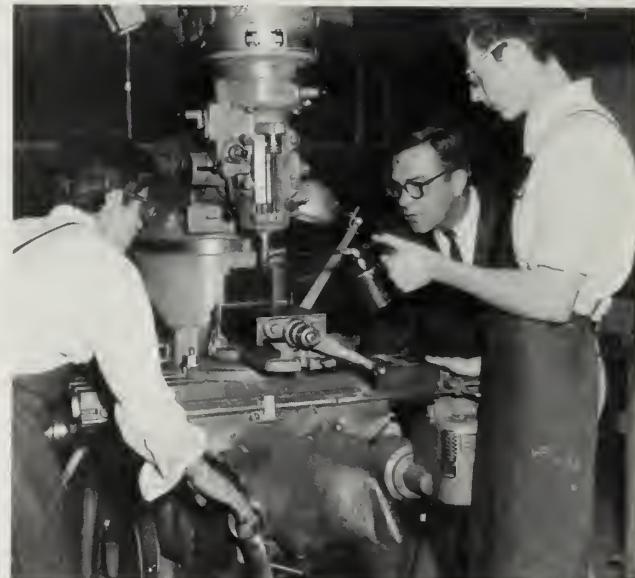

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Education Department is an excellent complement to our academic section. It enables interested students to gain practical experience in the field they may eventually undertake. This year, advanced students are being given the opportunity to utilize their creativity through various construction projects. Through the fine instruction available, students may learn and polish the techniques necessary in becoming skilled craftsmen.

Physical Education

Throughout our four years at Enfield High School, physical education has played a major role in the development of each student. A wide variety of sports is offered in the athletic program. All classes learn the "universal sports": soccer, basketball, and volleyball.

Complete education does not consist of only writing themes or ruffling a book's pages; the shouts of victory, the acceptance of defeat, and learning to function with others toward a single goal—those are the aims of physical education, and those aims help mold us into "complete" individuals.

President's Message

The Kaleidoscope is a variegated, changing pattern. Its substance is a diversified composition with the appearance of order and reason.

Our education is as the kaleidoscope based on a varied synthesis of life's experiences. Its many components seemingly have no relation. Yet, from a distance, its appearance is that of a well ordered course.

We have spent many years going from one changing pattern to the next. Each road that we have travelled has exhibited little relation to the one previous or the one ahead. Yet, as the kaleidoscope, the many different roads have seemingly combined into one.

We wish to obey the benefits of our efforts, but we must pause and give thanks to those who have helped place the right components in the right pattern. Without their patience and guidance this end result might not have been achieved.

Though our patterns will change as we grow older and wiser, we pray that we forever maintain our reason. In a time when it has become exceedingly difficult to maintain the ideal of the pattern, pray that we do not lose sight of our goals. It is our hope that someday all mankind will have the opportunities given us to mold their experiences into a kaleidoscope of order and reason.

MICHAEL DI ROSA

Class History

At the conclusion of our high school years we gaze into the kaleidoscope of the past to view the varied colored patterns of our preparation for the future.

Our ninth year of school began with new environments. Some of us went to Thaddeus Kosciuszko Junior High, while others attended Enfield High. Those of us at EHS elected Joe Bacewicz, president; Mark Handley, vice-president; Pam Hall, secretary; and Karen Kiebish, treasurer. Our representatives to the Student Council were Robert Bacewicz, Debbie Bellida, Marianne Destro, and Sheila Matthews.

The scholastic pattern of our kaleidoscope began when Doreen Mortensen won the Freshman Writing Award and Robert Zawada received the Algebra I Award.

The ninth graders at Kosciuszko had the honor of naming the schools and forming the constitution. Sue Aduskevitz was the Morgan House president, while Bill Aloisa, Fred Drake, Jan Eyberse, Tom Maziarz, Janie Liro, Jane Kowalczyk, Nancy Rumore, Brian Bjrondahl, and Ruth Pomeroy represented the students. Susan Richeer designed the school emblem.

Athletics balanced the design. Our combined basketball team: Bob Bacewicz, Joe Bacewicz, Pat Casper, Steve Cavalieri, Dennis Cunningham, Bob Elliott, Bill Keller, Gary Hopper, Dennis Root, Ed Sarna, Chet Wasileski, Bob Zawada, and John Znamierowski united the two divisions of the class. The baseball diamond enlarged the pattern with Bob Elliott, Tom Evans, Ken Kalva, Dave Kowalchuck, Mike D'Amato, Gary Hopper, Kevin Purdy, Dennis Root, Ed Sarna, Tom Skypeck, and Joe Zarcaro.

The class of '69 was together for the first time in our sophomore year. In October, we elected Ken Sarno, president; Jim Silver, vice-president; Michele LeRoy, secretary; and Sheila Lacey, treasurer. Veterans Marianne Destro, Debbie Bellida were joined by Cathy Gorman, Mike DiRosa, and Sharon Mullen as Student Council Representatives. The first class effort was "Caheret," a semi-formal dance organized by Pat Grenier, general chairman.

The sports pattern grew when Bob Elliott, Mark Handley, and Ed Sarna brought recognition to our class by playing on the Varsity football team. The junior varsity basketball team was colored by the playing of Bob Bacewicz, Steve Cavalieri, John Censki, Ken Kalva, Bill Keller, Bruce Peterson, Kevin Purdy, Ed Sarna, Vin Spanillo, Chet Wasileski, Bob Zawada, and John Znamierowski. They were cheered on by JV cheerleaders Michele LeRoy, Candy Ratches, and Linda Werner.

The colors ran and blended as sophomores helped their fellow students gain financial assistance through the newly formed Enfield Scholarship Foundation by canvassing.

In our junior year we lost our status as the largest class in the school but we were determined to be the strongest. To lead us to our goal we elected Mark Handley, president; Dennis Majeski, vice-president; Ann Marie Nowak, secretary; and Bill Munsell, treasurer. Mike DiRosa, Marianne Destro, Cathy Gorman, Sharon Mullen, Bruce Peterson, and Vernon Page contributed to a productive year. They innovated senior parking privileges and additional representatives for each class.

Our social life merged into the pattern with the junior prom. Pat Grenier was the general chairman for "Raindrops and Roses." We presented the senior class with "For One Bright Shining Moment," the farewell prom. Cathy Gorman was the general chairman.

Our delegation to Laurel Girl's State, Sue Aduskevitz, Marianne Destro, and Deborah Morse, added new color to the spectrum of experience. Ed Waleryszak, Mark Handley, Michael DiRosa, and Bob Zawada attended Boy's State.

Scholastically, Carol Devine received the Latin I Award and Dennis Girard the American History Award. The science and math award was granted to Ken Jamrogowicz. Mike DiRosa, Sheila Carey and Bob Zawada were awarded for their good citizenship.

Joe Bacewicz brought recognition to his school and class when he was named Il-Suburban-League End. Other juniors on the varsity football team were Dale Baker, Bob Bacewicz, Pat Casper, John Censki, Jeff Casarella, Bob Egan, Bob Elliot, Tom Evans, Mark Handley, Mark Keller, Ed Sarna, Niles Stehbins, Rex Wardwell and Joe Zarcaro. The cheer-leadeers: Pat Grenier, Midge Houff, Michele LeRoy, Lynn Dumond, and Linda Werner cheered the soccer team on to victory. Juniors on the team were Mike DiRosa, James Cote, Jeff Fitzgerald, Gary Hopper, Bill Munsell, Bill O'Brien, Bruce Peterson, Lee Schermerhorn, Len Shortz, and Mark Spencer.

The basketball team added shades of color to the sports pattern with Bob Bacewicz, Joe Bacewicz, Steve Cavalieri, Dennis Cunningham, Ken Kalva, Kevin Purdy, Vin Spanillo, Chet Wasileski and Bob Zawada. A new dimension was added with the wrestling team. Juniors on the team were Scott Bain, Bob Bouchard, Ted Jenkins, and Mark Handley.

Many juniors worked to make the dramatics production "The King and I" a success. Debbie Morse, student director, was the recipient of the Howard Lavalette Award. Lana Tamashaitis, head choreographer, and Andy Malloy, stage manager, added to a full production.

Juniors Alan Albetski and Alan Torrant were accepted as members of the All-Connecticut-State Band.

Bob and Joe Bacewicz, grand marshals, led the graduating seniors to the closing of the 1968 year.

The pattern reopened in our final and most important year. We elected Mike DiRosa, president; Bruce Peterson, vice-president; Ann Marie Nowak, secretary and Sheila Lacey, treasurer. Our representatives were: Marianne Destro, Tom Foley, Cathy Gorman, Tom Holmes, Marge Mistrick, Sharon Mullen, Jane Porcello, Robert Bacewicz and Joseph Bacewicz.

Our class sponsored the concession stands at the football games, a paper drive, a dance, and the senior prom "Yuletide Cotillion."

The football team led by the seniors Jeff Casarella, John Genski, Pat Casper, Bob Bacewicz, Joe Bacewicz, Alan Davis, Bob Egan, Tom Evans, Bob Elliott, John Flanagan, Mark Keller, Gerald Gumkowski, Rex Wardwell, and Niles Stehbins brought our school the championship.

The seniors on the soccer team were: Jeff Fitzgerald, Bruce Peterson, Len Shortz, Mike DiRosa, Bill O'Brien, Gary Hopper, Ken Sawicki, Bill Munsell, Lee Schermerhorn, Donald O'Connor, and Scott Bain.

Our life at Enfield High has been brief but full. The Kaleidoscope has blended and folded to bring our patterns into focus. The knowledge we have gained, the interests we have acquired, and the friends we have made will stay with us as we leave Enfield, each to his own destiny.

IN APPRECIATION

A vibrant community as well as school personality, Miss Elizabeth Best has given much to Enfield High in her thirty-seven years of dedicated service. Her outstanding contributions to the National Honor Society will long stand as an example of an educator's involvement in the outside activities of the student.

Miss Best dedicated her life to the enrichment of both her Latin and English students in the art of communication, which is so necessary in the lives of maturing young adults. But this is only a small part. Miss Best attempted to instill in all of her students the love and desire to learn.

Striving for that unique element,

J. Myhne

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council endeavors to relate student opinion and suggestions to the faculty and administration. The advisors, Mr. Torre, Miss Malley, and Mr. Talbot, offer their services and advice when it is needed. Rather than a governing body, the Student Council helps to promote changes within the school which will be beneficial to both students and faculty. Council members spend much time and effort in sponsoring projects that are of interest to the students.

Recent changes in the Code of Dress, the pass system, and the test schedule can be attributed to the efforts of the Student Council and members of the faculty. A plan was also devised to make possible senior parking privileges. International Day is an annual program planned by the Council. For the past three years the council members and student body have worked together to sponsor a fund drive for the Enfield Scholarship Foundation. The Student Council remains the primary link between the faculty and the students.

FUTURE TEACHERS CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. Carl Gahm and Mr. Stanley Tupek, the Future Teachers Club brought together students interested in the teaching profession.

This year the club organized the Enfield Street Elementary School program, designed to provide the members with actual classroom experience. Those students interested in an elementary education major volunteered one of their study periods each week to observe teaching methods and received valuable experience through instruction of classes.

Members of the Enfield High School faculty presented lectures concerning their own teaching experiences, teacher-student relationships, and the spectrum of teaching methods.

Perhaps the most important projects sponsored by the club were the educational field trips taken to nearby colleges and universities, giving future teachers an opportunity to view schools before making final college decisions.

and from those who knew.

THE FUTURE NURSES CLUB

Despite a relatively small membership, the Future Nurses Club is an active and meaningful organization. Its meetings are greatly enhanced by visiting guest speakers from near-by hospitals and schools who explain their respective programs and facilities. This first-hand information and guidance is of immeasurable value to the students in their choice of a nursing school.

The Future Nurses Club is also involved in community projects such as a collection of canned goods at Thanksgiving for a needy Enfield family. The members and club advisor, Mrs. Epstein, make monthly visits to the Scitico Nursing Home to assist in the care of the patients. Many members have also worked at the Red Cross Bloodmobiles as aides. The Future Nurses Club is truly helping to prepare Enfield High girls for a life of dedication as professional nurses.

YEARBOOK

In September the yearbook staff began work on the production of the 1969 Echo. As the final rotation of the changing patterns began, the yearbook staff was diligently collecting senior pictures and recording all the events. For most of us, the experience of organizing material and arranging it in an artistic fashion was new. Some of us had insight to this task as we were the first staff to produce the 1968 supplement. In past years the graduating staff had prepared the supplement.

As this year quickly fled, our staff worked long hours to achieve our goal: to produce a yearbook that coordinates good artistic and literary quality for the total enjoyment of all.

The staff looks for new and better ideas.

Good layout plans take much time and work.

The typists receive copy and instructions.

*We recorded

Jim and Patti check copy for errors.

The staff works diligently to meet deadlines.

Pictures are arranged on the pages.

TICKER

This year, 1969, was the year Ticker broke tradition! Under the direction of Sue Aduskevitz, editor-in-chief, the format of the student newspaper underwent vast changes. The expansion of the page size along with the introduction of newsprint gave Ticker an updated appearance. Another Ticker first was the establishment of a yearly subscription rate.

Quality in Ticker, though, was not only confined to technical areas. The Ticker staff worked many an afternoon following up news scoops, creating lively features, and defining editorial positions. Then the editors checked and doublechecked to be certain that Ticker stories met the quality of journalistic standards.

Ticker was the product of an entire staff's diligence. It was a publication students could enjoy because Ticker reflected the wide range of interests and activities of Enfield youth.

Members of Ticker work on "paste-ups."

Kirk and Sue compare the new Ticker with older issues.

The Staff busily prepares the layout for the next issue.

looked to literary achievements,

FUTURE

The annual publication of the Social Studies Laboratory featured scholarly research papers submitted by seniors. Contributors worked not for a grade, but for personal enrichment. They cared for people less fortunate than themselves. They remembered the often forgotten people who form part of our world. "Spirit, teamwork, and excellence" was the method employed—a drudgery became a joy as the message was communicated. "Education and involvement with people" is the hope of the staff; for we must all play a part in shaping Mankind's destiny.

LIBRARY AIDES

The library aides group, headed by Mrs. McGarry, is one of the more popular clubs at Enfield High. Students who join the group assist Mrs. McGarry by straightening and checking out books, and helping students involved in research. Club members work two periods a week during their study halls. Many aides have commented that, because of the club, they have become more aware of the wealth of knowledge and materials available in the library. Visiting graduates have reported that the experience they gained working in the school library has been very beneficial in their chosen fields.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

Future Business Leaders of America provides activities for students interested in careers in the fields of business, industry, and business education. Students display their business skills in managing the school store, selling tickets for drama productions, and participating in "Youth in Business" for a day. They actively participated in state and national conventions with one of the members serving as state secretary. Field trips and the annual trip to the New York Stock Exchange and Chase Manhattan Bank were also part of the year's activities. Advisors for the Future Business Leaders of America are Miss Henrietta Coulombe, Mrs. Linda Wyman, and Mr. Paul Bisesti.

Everything from paperbacks to EHS sweatshirts can be found in the school store.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

A new club at E.H.S. this year, the International Club, has been very active. The chief goal of the International Club is to promote understanding among nations through exchange students. The club has begun the initial work this year through such programs as United Nations Week, Pen Pal Day, and International Day.

As students explored the realms of foreign customs, lands, and problems, they became aware of their place in the world as Americans. Their awareness led to involvement and the International Club sponsored a Biafra Relief Drive and Unicef canvas.

The formation of the International Club brought another color to an ever growing pattern. The experiences and understanding gained by its members has added a new depth to our kaleidoscope.

SKI CLUB

Take a walk down the D-wing at about 2:45 on a Wednesday afternoon and you will notice a crowd of kids packed into a room. This throng of happy students are the skiers of Enfield High. If you lend an ear you will hear girls laughing over spills they took on the last trip, the hard time they have just trying to get on the ski lift, and the really great guys up at the lodge. You see boys arguing whether K-2's or Yamaha's are better skis. Then Mr. Kramer walks up and says that his are even better than both! A typical ski club meeting. But, out of chaos, plans for a trip emerge and students go running home with permission slips in hand, looking forward to the weekend trip. Whether paralleling the expert trails or snowplowing down the novice slopes the EHS ski club has a lot of good fun and great memories to keep.

GLEE CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Giangrasso, the choir had become a significant part of the Enfield High Music Department. The result of their many rehearsals was evidenced by the fine programs performed for the students during the year. Their annual concerts during the Christmas season and in the spring have become events which are eagerly awaited. The Glee Club also supplied many cast members for the musical, "The King and I" performed on the Enfield High stage in May, 1968.

BAND

This year the band, under the leadership of Mr. Leonard DeMaio, continued in its role of providing the music of Enfield high. Aside from playing at a number of school assemblies, the band performed at the annual Christmas and Spring concerts. The band also supported our football and basketball teams, when at home, with a halftime show entitled "Melody in Motion." They always aroused the crowd, and played a part in winning many games.

Under the direction of Mr. Anthony Perrone, members of the band formed the orchestra for the musical production "The King and I". The orchestra performed the opening pieces, strengthened the choruses, and provided background music for many scenes.

THE DRAMATICS CLUB

The Enfield High School Lamplighters' Drama Guild means many things to many people. To its members and alumni it holds memories of long hours of work, tears, gratifying applause, and good friends. It brings added enrichment and pride to the name of Enfield High.

This year will be a year of fond memories for many of Enfield's graduating seniors. The Corn Is Green, the group's major production, gave some of the graduates a chance to prove their acting abilities. An Evening of One-Act Plays found many experienced members working backstage, serving as directors for the four short plays which starred the apprentice Lamplighters.

SOCCER

Soccer at Enfield High School reached the pinnacle it so richly deserves in the 1968-69 season. Fan appreciation for this fast-paced and very exciting sport increased as the Raiders ran to an excellent season. The 4-6-2 record compiled this year was the best record an EHS soccer team has registered since the sport was initiated here four years ago.

The 1968 season found the Raiders in the Capital District Conference. Thus, soccer became the first sport here at Enfield High to face the challenge of the tougher CDC. The results of their first confrontation with this stiff competition were encouraging.

Coach William Teed and Assistant Coach David Shea molded a team which included two victories over Somers, a win over Windsor, and a victory over Weaver in its four conquests.

Representing Enfield High in attractive and vivacious fashion on the gridiron, the soccer twelve varsity cheerleaders. The biggest boosters in the school did a sparkling job in building enthusiasm at the games.

Those among us who were not fortunate enough to participate in high school athletics fail to realize the lift that cheerleaders give to any contest. Win, lose, or draw, the fiery enthusiasm demonstrated by our cheerleaders is a vital ingredient for any team. Those of us who were actively involved with an EHS team know that cheerleading can be a fantastic part of any last minute drive for a touchdown or come-from-behind rally in an effort to beat the buzzer.

To show that good cheerleaders complement a good team, one only has to look at the extraordinary successes of our football, soccer, and basketball squads this past year.

The enthusiasm they generated will be hard to match next year or for many years to come.

The Raiders,

FOOTBALL

The 1968 football season at Enfield High was spectacular from start to finish. An unyielding defense coupled with an explosive offense to earn the Green Raiders the co-championship of the Suburban League. A 0-0 tie with South Hadley in a fantastic defensive struggle left the Raiders and South Hadley deadlocked with identical 6-0-1 records in league play, and forced the co-championship.

It was a season of great individual performance, yet never-ending teamwork. It was a season which saw Enfield face its first Capital District Conference rival, Norwich. A 33-15 loss spoiled an otherwise unblemished record. Next season will find EHS a member of the CDC.

Running the offense was Joe Zarcaro. A fine signal caller and passer, Zarcaro led an explosive offense which netted 186 points during the seven game Suburban League campaign. Also the defensive squad led all Western Massachusetts teams in fewest points scored against them—36.

Much of the ground game was built around the powerful and lightning-fast running of half-back John Censki. A consistent performer, Censki found the paydirt for a team high of 44 points.

Censki's brilliant running with the pigskin earned him a spot on the all-league team along with standout end Joe Bacewicz, dynamic guard Mark Handley, and fighter tackle Joe Racine.

We as students of Enfield High join in saluting the 1968 gridiron co-champion Green Raiders. Our congratulations are extended to head coach Joseph Lamana and his assistants, Mr. Robert Lengyel, Mr. Timothy Connors, and Mr. John Skypeck. Let us hope that the spirit and pride which was so much a part of this year's team will continue not only next season but in overcoming every obstacle which we must confront in the years ahead.

Excelling in games well played,

BASKETBALL

A basketball season which began poorly ended in a blaze of glory, as the Green Raiders swept to the Valley Wheel championship. Four straight losses to non-league rivals were followed by 14 victories in the next 16 games, including nine straight to round out the regular season.

The Raiders copped the Valley Wheel title on the strength of an 11-1 record. The lone loss was by one point to Longmeadow, when a shot from the deep corner cut the cords ahead of the final buzzer.

Co-captain Bob Zawada led the Raiders in scoring, with an average of nearly 20 points per game. His fellow forward and co-captain, Joe Bacewicz, was second in scoring and pulled down numerous timely rebounds. Big Chet Wasileski was an awesome sight to opponents as he used his 6'5" range to dominate the backboards.

At the guard positions were Ken Kalva and Dennis Cunningham. An excellent scorer, Kalva combined his scoring punch with his ballhandling abilities to present a fine all-around performance. Cunningham, another fine outside shooter, was especially tenacious on defense with his constant intimidation of opponents.

Seniors Bob Bacewicz, Kevin Purdy, John Znamierowski, Steve Cavalieri, and Vin Spanilo, plus juniors Rick Dresler, and Dave LaRussa, provided the nucleus of strong and impressive boosters necessary to any championship squad.

Coach John Skypeck can be proud of his Raiders, a team with solid determination and drive, which were well rewarded with the Valley Wheel championship. There were no superstars, just a solid team effort all the way. Teamwork builds champions, and this year's exciting team was composed of twelve real champions.

We as students of Enfield High can likewise be proud of our team's performance. There were some thrilling moments and some trying ones, also. But in the end, the Valley Wheel championship erased any inkling of defeat from our minds.

A word should be spoken about the enthusiastic support which greeted every player's effort on the court. Without the fiery vivacity of the student body, the fantastic end to this great season might not have been accomplished. The student body, together with the players, can take great pride in proclaiming that "We're Number 1."

Wrestling found an interested following in its second year of existence here at Enfield High. The performance of Coach William Teed's squad was excellent, and some of the individual achievements were stupendous.

Captain Scott Bain compiled an unblemished 9-0 record in league competition. Senior Mark Handley went 11-1, his only loss coming on a last second two-point decision by his opponent. Seniors Bob Elliott and Bob Bouchard made excellent contributions to this team.

HOCKEY

The 1969 season found a hustling, spirited, Green Raider Hockey Team. A new spirit prevailed on the ice where Enfield skated to its finest season since the sport was instituted here.

Coached by Mr. Richard McCarthy and led by co-captains senior Bernie Loubier and junior Joe Racine, the Big Green demonstrated a real team performance in every contest. The opposition found this independent squad always a tough foe.

High scoring seniors Bernie Loubier and Mark Collins were joined on the squad by fellow classmates Jack Flanagan, Gary Krasinski, Art Geltz, and Bruno Plocharczyk.

Enfield School Song

I

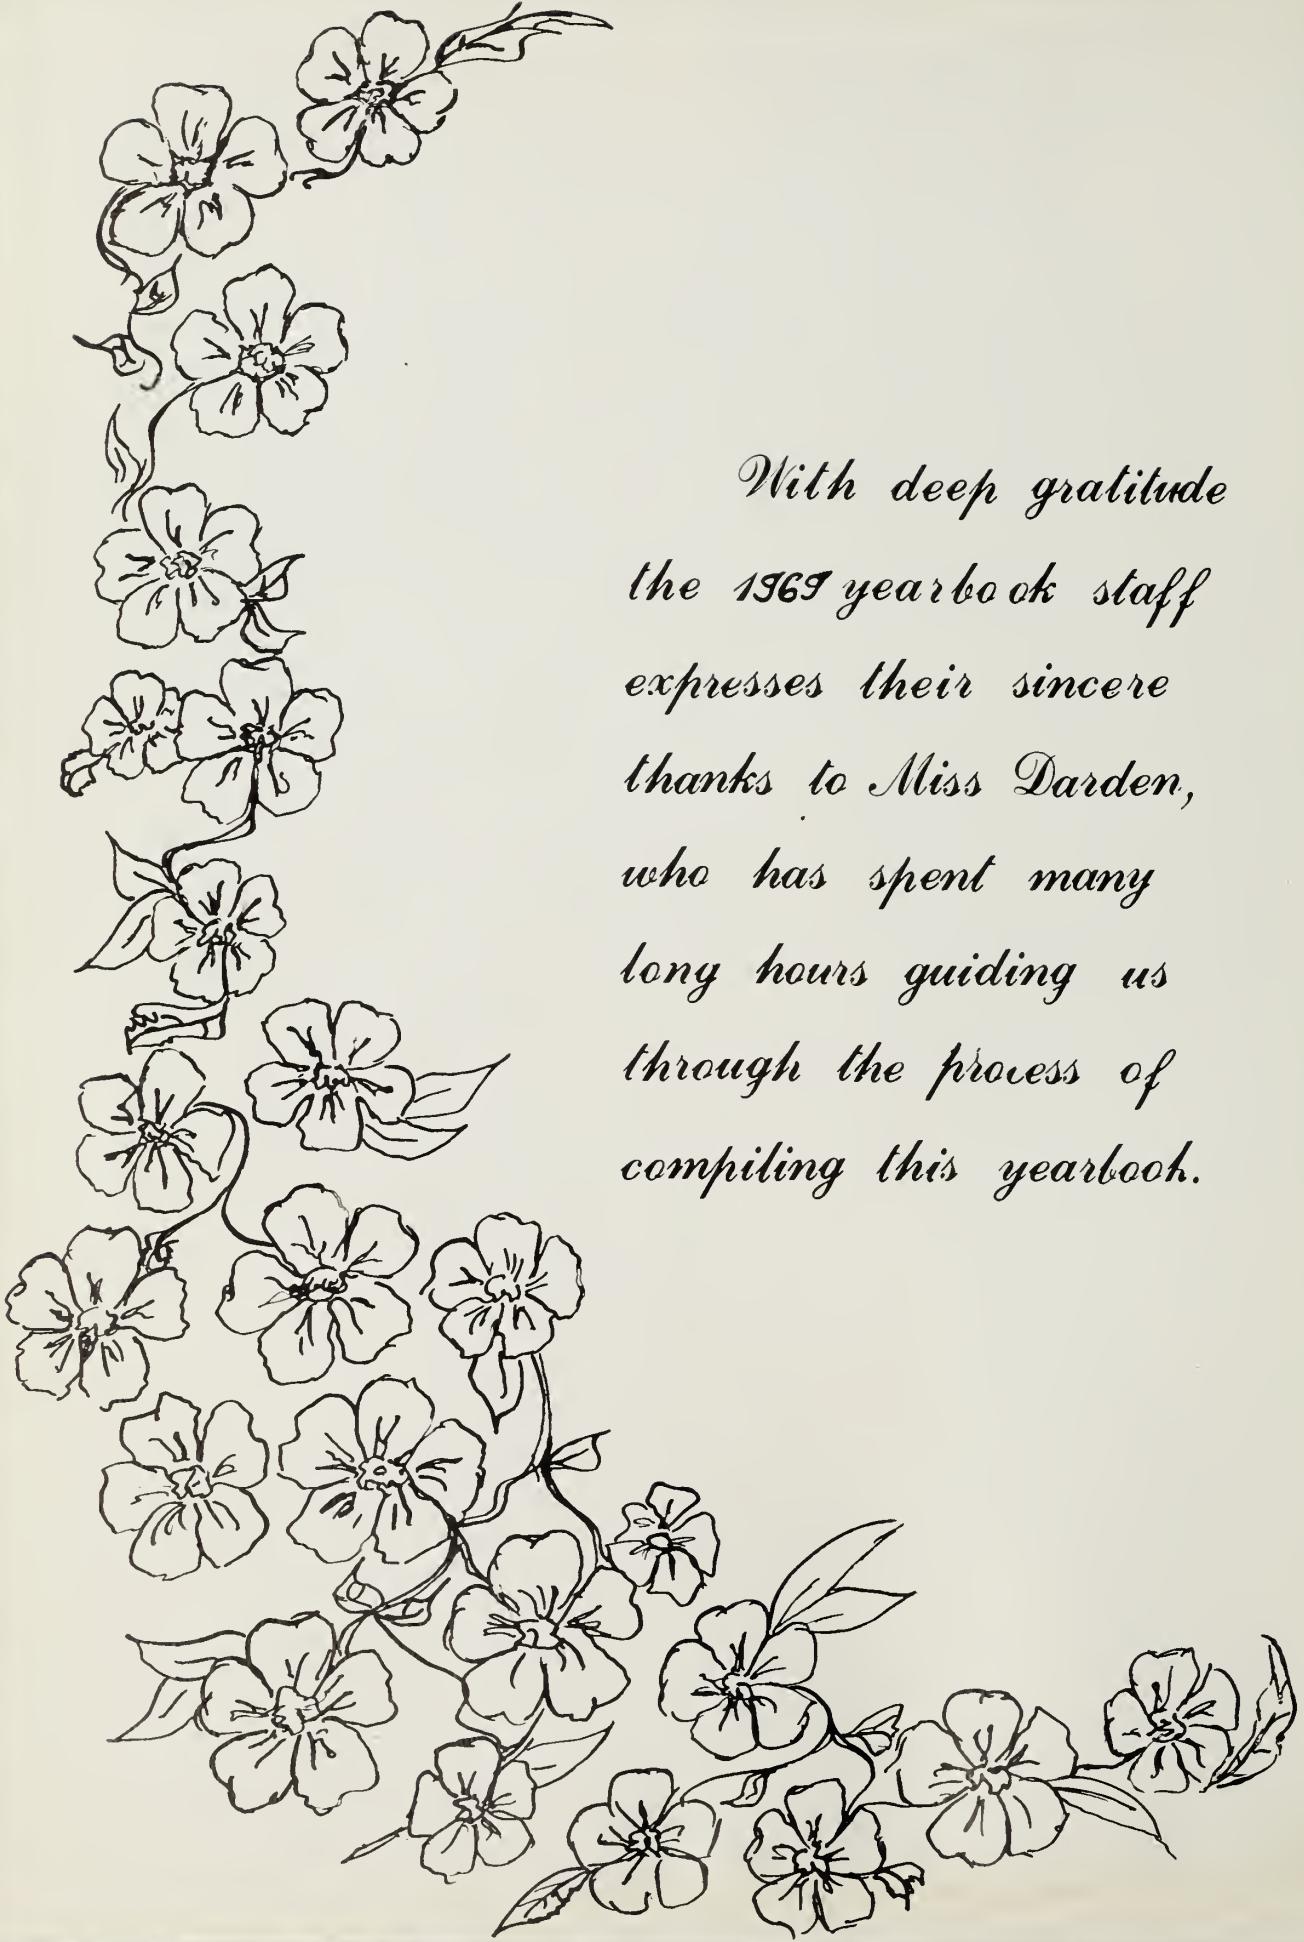

As the hours go by of our golden youth
And our hearts beat high in the quest of truth,
Let our song be raised and our voices yield
Praise and honor to the school and name of Enfield.

CHORUS

*Let us sing with a will for old Enfield
And the school we love so dear,
For the friendships that ne're can be broken,
Stronger grown from year to year;
May our thoughts and our deeds be a token
Of a love that cannot die;
We shall live as sons and daughters
Of old Enfield High.*

II

Sun and shadows deep checker future years,
May our mem'ries keep watch o'er all our fears;
Courage, truth, and love in our souls are sealed
In the days we live together in old Enfield.

With deep gratitude the 1969 yearbook staff expresses their sincere thanks to Miss Darden, who has spent many long hours guiding us through the process of compiling this yearbook.

The Echo Staff would like to thank everyone who aided us in compiling this yearbook.
